Building a Neonatal Unit for the future

All babies need special care... ...some need it more than others

“Our twins Matthew and Elin were born at 26 weeks in 2007. They were extremely poorly and spent 11 weeks in Intensive Care. During this time we experienced what can only be described as a massive emotional rollercoaster of highs and lows, not knowing from one day to the next whether they would survive. Matthew and Elin are now two lively five year olds and we have no doubt that without the outstanding and dedicated care of the staff in the Neonatal Unit, it could have been a very different story”

Richard and Monica Hogg.

Our Neonatal Unit was built in 1974 and is now outdated in terms of décor and design. Our charity exists not to replace NHS services, but to provide the ‘extras’ over and above core NHS services by enhancing and improving facilities for our patients.

The Babygrow Appeal has been launched to raise £3 million to build a new Neonatal Unit that will provide better facilities and a more spacious environment for our patients and their families.
